

Trained. Empowered. Prepared.

Become an American Red Cross Instructor

Teach the following courses in Spanish:

- First Aid
- Adult, Child and Infant CPR
- Automated External Defibrillation (AED)
- Other programs also available

Help Save Lives in Your Community

Each year, the American Red Cross teaches lifesaving skills to nearly 12 million people. But there are millions we have yet to reach with safety skills to help them protect their families and communities. That's why the American Red Cross is proud to offer lifesaving training in Spanish, creating a safer place to live for everyone. But we can't do it alone. We need your help.

- Make a difference in others' lives as well as your own
- Teach people to save lives
- Gain valuable teaching experience and receive great training

Train people in your workplace, organization or community in first aid, CPR and automated external defibrillator (AED) training.

Do You Have What it Takes?

- Do you enjoy interacting with a variety of people?
- Are you enthusiastic about your role in helping people?
- Are you fluent in Spanish?
- Are you willing to develop a full understanding of subject matter and stay abreast of new developments?

We'll help you build and refine all the skills you need. Work with America's most trusted health and safety training provider and show your community tha

Contact Bethany Brown at (410) 624-2067
to find out more about becoming a Red Cross instructor.

